SUPERINTENDENT A. C. HAMPTON

As Mr. Hampton retires from the superintendency of Astoria schools on July 1, he will witness the establishment of a four-year high school in place of the three-year system. The junior high school system, which Mr. Hampton organized, will undergo a reorganization so as to coincide with the change in the senior high school.

Mr. Hampton during his tenure tackled the numerous problems which confronted him with the zeal and foresight that is personified in the spirit of Astoria schools. Through his tireless effort the rebuilding of the high school building, which was razed by fire during the Thanksgiving vacation in 1943, was complete and ready for use by the incoming class. Mr. Hampton took the lead in introducing a vocational department at Astoria high school, which has grown and continues to widen its scope.

Prior to coming to Astoria in 1925, Mr. Hampton served as principal of Pendleton high school and superintendent of schools in La Grande. Mr. Hampton graduated from the Oregon College of Education and the University of Oregon.

Besides his outstanding work in the field of education, Mr. Hampton has been active in civic work. At various times during his service in Astoria, Mr. Hampton has held numerous positions in community service groups, some of which are the U. S. O. Board of Management, the Rotary Club, and the Library Board.

PRINCIPAL E. D. TOWLER

Progress was Mr. Towler's motto during his sixteen years as principal of Astoria high school. The 23,000 students who have graduated from A.H.S. have seen a steady increase in the number of improvements introduced through Mr. Towler's efforts.

The war placed a heavy load on the education system at Astoria high school with its numerous band drives, paper drives, and rationing programs. The school was awarded a "School-at-War Flag" for its cooperation during the war. The sudden influx of navy personnel placed another burden on Mr. Towler and A.H.S. by the increased enrollment and various types of tests for veterans. During this period an intercommunication system was installed in the high school, and recently new equipment has been procured for the visual aids and other departments.

During his administration class work and activities have been more closely harmonized and Astoria has reached the top basketball circles five times. Outstanding progress has been shown by graduates of Astoria high school during this period. They have received numerous honors in college work.

In the field of education, Mr. Towler organized the Clatsop County Schoolmasters Club and the Oregon High Schools Principals Association. Mr. Towler has served in numerous other education groups.

Mr. Towler has attended and taught in several colleges in the United States. He has Bachelor's degrees in science and education, and a Master's degree in science.

Under the guiding hand of the student council, the Astoria High student body completed another successful year. At their meetings and discussions they determined the expenditure of funds, the price of game tickets, awarded athletic letters, and sponsored assemblies. In general, they looked after the students' welfare.

To Bob Kittilson, student body president, goes the credit of efficient leadership. His able assistant, Lawrence Dean, was first vice president. Mary Jo Seeborg, secretary, kept an accurate record of meetings, while Shirley Hillard, treasurer, handled the financial branch of the business. Completing the list of seniors on the council was Trevor Jacobson, athletic manager.

Other members were Richard Wong, second vice president, and Jack Layton, third vice president. They were junior and sophomore representatives respectively. Honorary member of the council and present at all meetings, was Principal E. D. Towler, who gave advice.

Highlighting the activities on this year's calendar were the passing on two constitutions, the General Mechanics Club and the Service Club, and the purchase of a new 16mm. sound projector machine. As a new responsibility, the council unanimously voted to sponsor the Fingerlings' Junior High Program to strengthen the athletic program.

Immediately after entering Astoria High as sophomores, the class of '48 got right into the swing of things. This group not only presented the successful Sophomore Hop, but were very active in athletics. Bob Kittilsen and Bill Karpela both won football letters and basketball letters. Karpela repeated in track. Sophomore initiation found the girls wearing the traditional green ribbons and the boys shining the shields, under the able guidance of the A-Club.

As juniors, the class of '48 presented their play, "And Came the Spring", in April of 1947, at the Viking Theater. This amusing comedy was given under the capable direction of Miss Zae Allen. The most successful Junior Prom ever given was presented by this class of energetic students. The theme of this dance was carried out completely, with tandem bicycles and handlebar mustaches.

When it came time for graduation, and the seniors, in their traditional blue caps and gowns, marched down the aisles of the Armory, they recalled the things they did during their last year. They had worked hard, but they also had had the enjoyment of putting on the senior play, "The House Without A Key", and the very popular Senior Ball, that had the theme of "Santa's Ballroom." On Class Day the seniors displayed the best of their talents to a large assembly.

The present junior class, which entered Astoria High in 1945, has come to the end of a very eventful year. Last year, as the sophomore class, under the leadership of Frank Franciscovich, president; Ronald Angberg, vice president; Edith Sather, secretary; Judy Thampson, treasurer; and Richard Ruita, sergeant at arms, these students successfully carried on the activities of their class. Dick Marse maintained the class sports standing by winning his letter in football and basketball.

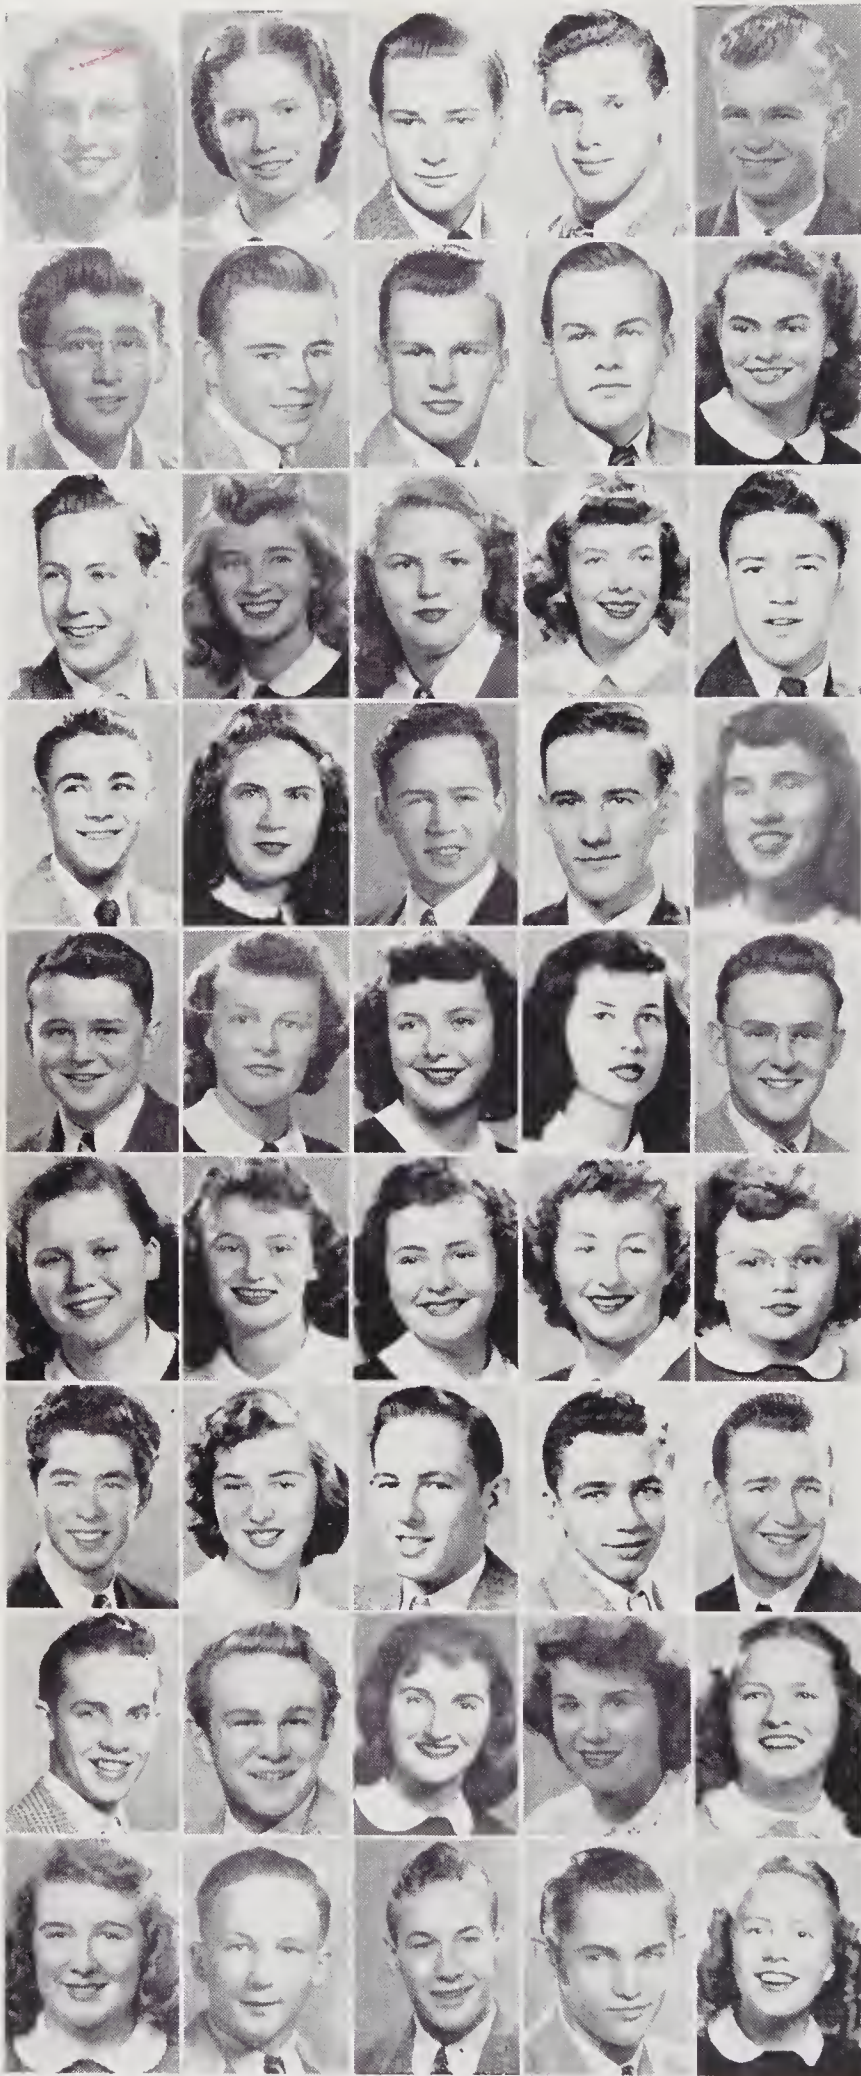

This year the class, advised by Miss Halderman, Miss Smoots, and Miss Friedrich, and under the leadership of Merrill Weijola, president; Bob Layton, vice president; Geraldine Beemer, secretary; Helen Kangas, treasurer; and Dick Alberding, sergeant at arms, again proved their ability to cooperate as a class.

The members of this class decided this year to have a school crest consisting of the Astor Column with "Astoria High" written under it to be worn on either a pin or a ring. Future juniors may now wear their school pin for two years instead of only part of their senior year.

In March, eighteen juniors, directed by Miss Allen, and supported by the rest of their class, presented the comedy entitled, "Quiet Summer". Their second social event of the year was their Junior Prom, which was held at Patriot Hall, in April. The juniors can now look forward to a very successful senior year.

Swinging into stride with the rest of the school, the sophomores of room 2 and 5 co-operated with rooms 24 and 25 to stage a successful Red Cross campaign. Later they enthusiastically planned a Sophomore Hap and completed their activities by decorating for the baccalaureate and commencement exercises. In their hall of fame these Sophomore rooms claimed four lettermen, who contributed greatly to the Fishermen's gridiron this year.

The rest of the sophomore class, under Miss Lamb and Miss Hansen, rooms 23 and 24, numbered sixty-nine. They boosted two lettermen: Philips and Soderberg; livewires, Greta Wilson and Lou Ann Lund. They are the last sophs to come into the high school under the three-year plan. They worked hord on the Sophomore Hop and were active in Tri-Y, Hi-Y, GAA, Astor Post, and Miss Smoot's Sophomore Chorus.

Qualifications for membership into the Special Chorus require the passing of a singing test. Continuing with last year's course in composition, the members studied the history of the opera and wrote term papers on composers of their choice. The Music Department and the Library Club purchased a rodia-phonograph, and throughout the year not only the members of the choruses, but also other students were encouraged to listen to records. The Library Club also purchased a recorder on which the choruses made recordings of their voices.

This year, under the supervision of Miss Isabel Smoots, high school chorus director, the various singing groups featured representative songs from different countries at the traditional Christmas program held in the gym.

The highlight of the year was the Spring Formal Concert. Besides participating in an American Legion Auxiliary radio broadcast and entertaining the American Legion and the Kiwanis Club, from whom a certificate of appreciation was received, this active group took part in the Band Concert. Gordon De Leon distinguished himself as being the first boy accompanist of the chorus.

Interest in music is the only requirement for membership into either the Mixed Chorus or the Sophomore Chorus. The Mixed Chorus, composed of the Boys' Chorus and the Junior-Senior Chorus, together with the Sophomore Chorus of sixty-nine girls, have contributed to various school programs during the year. Among the activities planned by Miss Smoots, director of the high school choruses, was an exchange assembly with Seaside. Darlene Bimalo was the accompanist.

Welcomed into the family of Astorio High School activities was the newly organized band under the direction of Harold Withnell, supervisor of music for the Astoria city schools.

The band, with its thirty-five members, is an accredited class established to provide an opportunity for all students to learn how to play instruments. The band also made public appearances at basketball games. Included in its schedule of concerts were three introductory appearances at the junior high schools and a Spring Concert with the high school vocal department on April 8.

The Astoria Rotary Club volunteered as boosters for the band. They took over the responsibility of providing transportation and giving aid to the endeavors of the A.H.S. band. As their main projects the Rotary Club transported all of the music department to the music contest in Oregon City on April 10, and they started a campaign to raise money for band uniforms.

Plans for next year include a beginning band for sophomores so that a continual supply of trained musicians will be available. Additional grants from the school board have increased the instrumentation of the band.

BAND

The Tri-Y activities were highlighted by the State Conference held here February 7-9. Other activities taking place during the year were a "Harvest Moon" dance, Christmas cards sales, candlelight recognition service, and a print and card dance. President, Nancy Lovell; vice president, Evelyn Nygaard; secretary, Charlotte Berry; treasurer, Nancy Lum; and advisers, Miss Bakkensen, Mrs. Hoecker, and Miss Friedrich, guided the group through a successful year.

THIRD ROW: Angberg, Beyers, Syvanen, Korpela, Morse, Sample, Byers, Nelson, Erickson.

Under the supervision of Mr. Ferguson, the twenty-three members successfully performed the duties of Hi-Y. They again undertook the traditional duty of taking tickets at athletic events. The highlight of the year was the sending of two representatives to Salem to participate in the "Youth in Government" program. Club officers were president, Arne Simonson; vice president, James Jarvis; secretary, Leonard Carlson; treasurer, Trevor Jacobsen; sergeant at arms, Bob Sunell; chaplain, Curtis Cowell.

TRI-Y

HI-Y

To encourage friendship, good sportsmanship and team work, and to promote health, physical efficiency, athletic accomplishments and love of the out-of-doors has been the aim of the Girls' Athletic Association. Miss Thurston, adviser, together with Shirley Hubbard, president; Barbara Williams, vice president; May Nygaard, secretary; and Ellen Koski treasurer; helped to make this a successful year for the sports loving teen-agers.

FIRST ROW: Beyer, Beemer, Ostrom, Newman, Vaughn, Beall, Labiske, Ducich, Erickson, Wilson, Swanson, Nygaard, Kelly, Niemi, Reed, Erickson, Welch, Winkfield, Stensrud, Cape.

THIRD ROW: Angberg, Sodberg, Philips, Sunell, Cowell, Layton, Hawkins, Stranz.

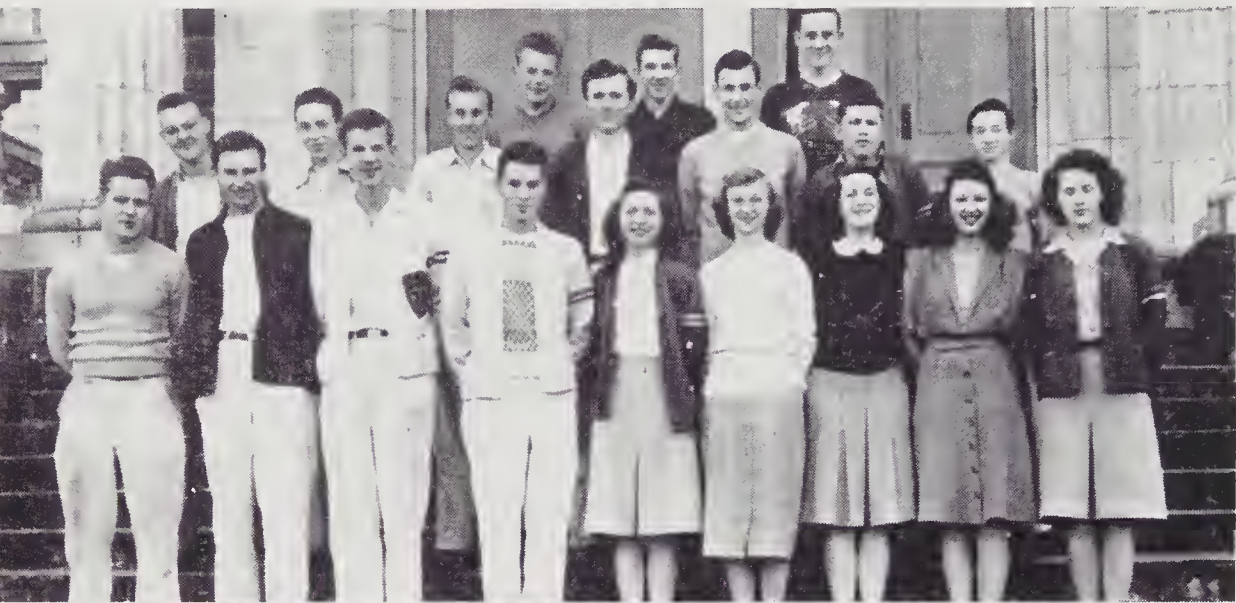

Guided by its new adviser, Ernie Stranz, the A-Club under the leadership of Bill Korpela, president; Philip Syvanen, vice president; Dick Morse, secretary treasurer; and Douglas Logue, sergeant at arms, took on the responsibility of promoting good sportsmanship and interests in athletics. Seventeen new members received their letters in sports which is a much sought after honor. A spring picnic ended the club's yearly activities.

GAA

A-CLUB

The Vocational Club, advised by Mr. Wilson Lee and Mr. Carl Bourne, carried out its annual activities under the leadership of Albert Iverson, president; Leonard Dean, vice president; Thelma Fax, secretary-treasurer; and Max Schwarzenbach, sergeant at arms. The annual Employer-Employee banquet was the main social event of the club in its program for development of character and qualities of leadership in its members.

Scholarship, leadership, service, character are the traits which this chapter desires to create in its members. First on the agenda this year was the organization of this new honor society. Regular activities which this club will sponsor are yet to be determined. The induction ceremony for the organization was performed before the student body by the Salem chapter. This ceremony will be an annual precedent.

QUILL AND SCROLL

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The Library Club, under the leadership of Miss Halderman and president, Duane Honsen; vice president, Randal Angberg; secretary treasurer, Noncy Lum, sponsored two teas for the faculty and a pay assembly. Eligibility for the club includes high scholarship and interest in library work. Duties consist of checking out books, magazines, and records, and keeping shelves orderly. Members may also take library science for credit.

Stressing education for world peace, an International Club was established in April last year by Richard Bjork, with the assistance of Miss Moud Crouter. This club is affiliated with the High School International Relations League and the Oregon Education Association. Sponsoring public forums, debates, and famous speakers, the club completed an active year. Don Malagamba, president; Beth Miller, secretary; and Alice Tiuro, treasurer, were the executive board. Miss Crouter and Mrs. Wheeler counseled the club.

Picking up the remains and remodeling the remnants of last year's yells, was a task placed in the enthusiastic hands of yell queen, Laverne Kelly, when she took over leadership of the four new yell leaders. Several send-off and pre-game pep rallies were staged by this energetic noise crew. They went all out this year and really packed the Astoria Fisherman's sport events.

Since organizing in 1927 the Hi-Knights have been active in all school athletic contests. Their activities consist of keeping score, operating the public address system, and maintaining order at all football and basketball games. For eligibility one must maintain a C average. This year the club has been under the leadership of president, Jerry Johnson; secretary treasurer, Bill Brooks; and sergeant at arms, William Kullberg.

HI-KNIGHTS

Highlighting the events of the Girls' League was the District Conference held in Rainier. In addition to the traditional Big and Little Sister party, the Christmas tree and meetings, the Girls' League held a Senior Girls' Tea. The Girls' League promotes friendship and democracy among girls. All girls of the student body automatically become members of the Girls' League.

The Dean's Lieutenants assist the Dean, carry on in her absence, make sales, and have general charge of the Dean's room. The lieutenants are not organized as a club. The Dean chooses girls as her lieutenants who are reliable, honest and willing. Each lieutenant has charge of the Dean's room for one period a day, selling pencils and coughdrops. This year the girls also sold kleenex.

At the beginning of this school year, the Pep Club and the Deba-Drams started their regular activities as separate organizations. As the midyear rolled around, a long-time dream was realized when the two clubs united, forming the A-Hi-Service Club. Under the leadership of its advisers, Miss Smaats and Miss Allen, and president, Barbara Williams, together with vice president, Nancy Lovell; secretary, Pat Gorman; treasurer, Evelyn Nygaard; and assistant-treasurer, Nancy Lum, who will fill Evelyn's position next year; scrapbook keeper, Dalores LeFranq; and publicity chairman, Joyce Widen, this new organization has indeed been a service to Astoria High.

Backing the Rally Squad, by promoting enthusiasm at assemblies, rallies and games, the members have carried on the traditional pep and good sportsmanship of Astoria High, which is known all over the state. The regular activities of the club consisted of selling candy, stimulating pep, and ushering at games. Their special activities included the annual banquets, honoring the football and basketball teams, the club-sponsored dance, and the marching drill at the tournament sendoff.

The girls decided on temporary uniforms of white, until the end of the year.

A-HI SERVICE CLUB

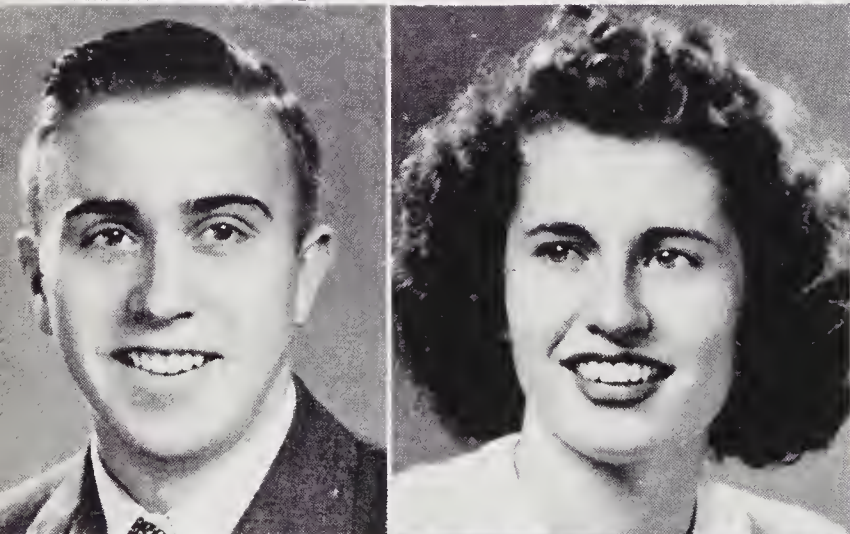

Introducing advance styles of newspaper make-up, the Astar Post Staff kept pace with an activity-conscious student body. Casting aside column rules and spaced type, the Astar Post added the new look to its heretofore conservative style and created a new eye-catching appearance. The six-year old masthead was replaced by a new cut of more harmonious type face.

The March issues of the Astar Post saw girl pitted against boy in a battle of the press with no holds barred. Ellen Kaski, assistant editor, advanced to the editorship in order to lead her girls and at the same time gain a practical experience for next year. The boys and their tournament issue were under the direction of editor, Richard Bjork.

So until next year, the Astar Post Staff has written another '30' to a successful year.

Chockfull of the lotest in journalism best describes this year's newly streamlined Astor Post. Headed by energetic Richard Bjork, who was the first student in the history of Astorio High School to attend the onnuol Notionol Scholostic Press Association conference in Cleveland, Ohio, the Astor Post topped oll previous records by publishing 14 four-page editions and two six-pogers during one of its most ootive years.

Regular issues of the Astor Post found Ellen Koski bottling the invosion of ods on the second page, while Jerry Johnson covered othletics for page three. Morgoret Kutz hondled contributions from the three junior high schools on page four. Directing oll these oactivities was Miss Fery Curry, odviser.

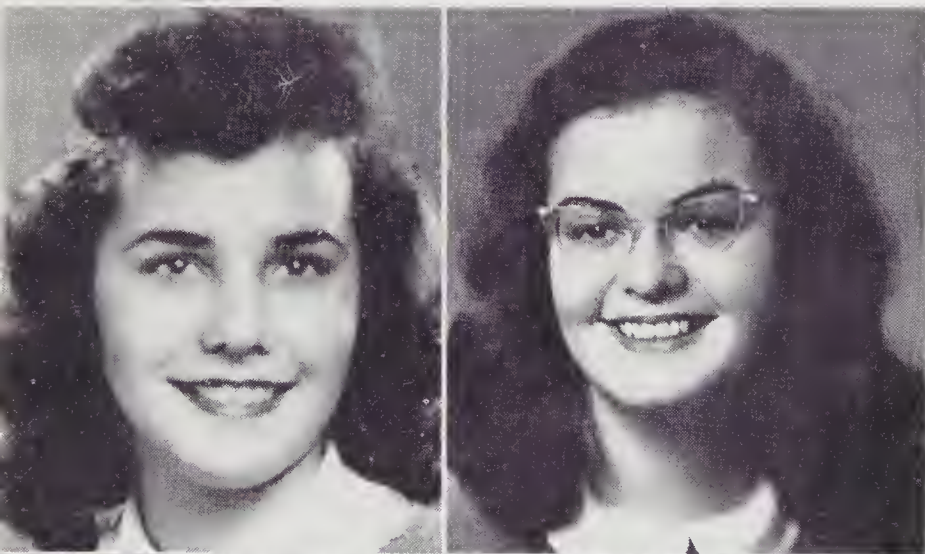

Putting on steom to keep up with the rising cost of printing ond the sudden influx of pictures, Ted Simonson, odvertising monoger, pounded the cement for od copy. Joyce Welch, business monoger ond circulation heod, hunted fronticolly for cors to pick up ond deliver the "deor ole A.P.'s" throughout the school system. With "we need copy paper" ringing in her eors, Miss Honsen survived o second year os the business odviser.

ASTOR POST STAFF

As you look over your new 1948 edition of the Zephyrus, think of the many hours of work spent by the editor, Betty Erickson, assistant editor, Paula Beyer, adviser, Miss Curry, and a hard-working cabinet. They began work in the fall and their worries weren't over until the book was distributed to the students. After all pictures were taken and sent to the engravers, the writing and rewriting began and when finished, the copy was released to the Astorian Budget. Credit must also be given for the successful handling of the finances by business manager, Marilyn Salomonsen and her adviser, Miss Lamb.

Collecting the student body tax, the Zephyrus fee of two and one half dollars, and assisting roll room teachers constitute the activities of a livewire. Regular duties include: selling lunch tickets, distributing the Astor Post and taking attendance. This year all the livewires have been ready to do any little task which they have been asked to perform. The livewires are the teachers "Handy Andies".

Later in the year six new members were added to the Zephyrus Cabinet to complete the staff. During the fall the cabinet chose the theme, made the dummy, and finished the photography and art work. In the spring the enlarged staff met at Paula Beyer's home to complete the story writing, revising and typing. By April, the finishing touches done, including the snap captions, the staff turned the 1948 Zephyrus copy over to the printer.

The incomporable Charlie Chon (Don Malagamba) was given the assignment of dropping Don Winterslip's murderer in the senior class play, "The House Without a Key." Minerva Winterslip (Margaret Kutz) and John Quincy Winterslip (Ted Simonsen) tried to solve the mystery in their own Bostonion way. With the unfolding of the plot, clues and mysterious stories of the past creep in to help create suspense. Miss Crouter was the play coach.

In a course of three uproarious acts the Juniors presented, "Quiet Summer." It was a fast-moving, rollicking, comedy with an interesting and amusing theme pocked with surprises. For three weeks the Junior play cast practiced long hours, and under the direction of Miss Allen, they produced a very commendable play. The advertising committee staged an all-out campaign which contributed to the success of the play.

THIS YEAR IN SPORTS

Under the guidance of head football coach, Bob Bates, the light Astoria eleven came through with two wins and one tie after a rugged schedule against much heavier and more experienced teams. This was the first year of coaching for Mr. Bates, who formerly was a lieutenant in the Navy. Transferring from his former position of football coach, Mr. Ernie Stranz very capably filled the position of head basketball coach after the resignation of Wally Palmberg. Astoria's "Fighting Fishermen" lost only two games in the regular season, these to the strong Salem Vikings on their home floor. The "Fishermen" previously had won two games from the "Vikings" on the Armory floor. The only other loss was at the invitational tournament at Klamath Falls, where they won games from Grant of Portland and Oregon City, losing only to Klamath Falls, thus placing second in the tournament.

The Fishermen rolled rough-shod over all district competition and gained the right to represent District Ten in the State Basketball Tournament at Eugene. This gave the Fishermen a very impressive string of victories for the entire year, making a grand total of thirty-one games won out of thirty-four games played previous to the state tournament.

First Row: Scribner, Edison, Cowell, Hutchinson, Dean, Sunnell, Morse.
Second Row: Korpela, Syvanen, Butler, Kittilson.

CAPTAIN PHIL SYVANEN, senior, played outstanding ball on both offense and defense from his fullback position.

BOB KITTILSON, senior, formerly a guard, played left half. Bob did some very fine broken-field running.

BILL BUTLER, senior, played both quarterback and fullback, a hard hitting blocker and tackler.

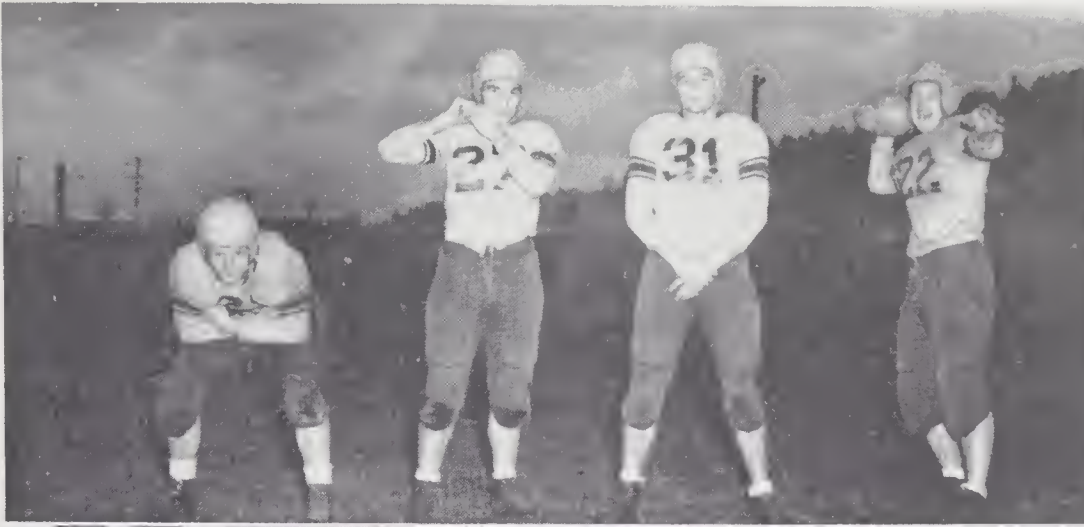

BILL KORPELA, senior and right half, did some very fine running. Bill did much of the Fishermen's passing.

HARRY SCRIBNER, senior, played right end. He showed well during the whole season.

DICK MORSE, junior, played left end. Dick will be back to strengthen next year's team.

FOOTBALL

First Row: Angberg, Soderberg, Roberts, Arola, Weijola, Fletcher, Smonson, Garrett, B. Layton, Brady, J. Layton.
 Third Row: Korpela, Scribner, Butler, Syvanen, Morse, Fransen, Sunell, Edison, Cowell, Webb, Alexander, Hansen, Kittilson, Hutchinson.

BOB SUNELL, senior, always working while in either guard or tackle spots, was one of the mainstays of the line.

TOM EDISON, senior, was the biggest man on the squad. Tom played guard ball, fighting always in his tackle position.

CHARLES HUTCHINSON, senior, played center and backed up the line on defense.

LAWRENCE DEAN, senior and left guard. He was a hard worker and very good on defense.

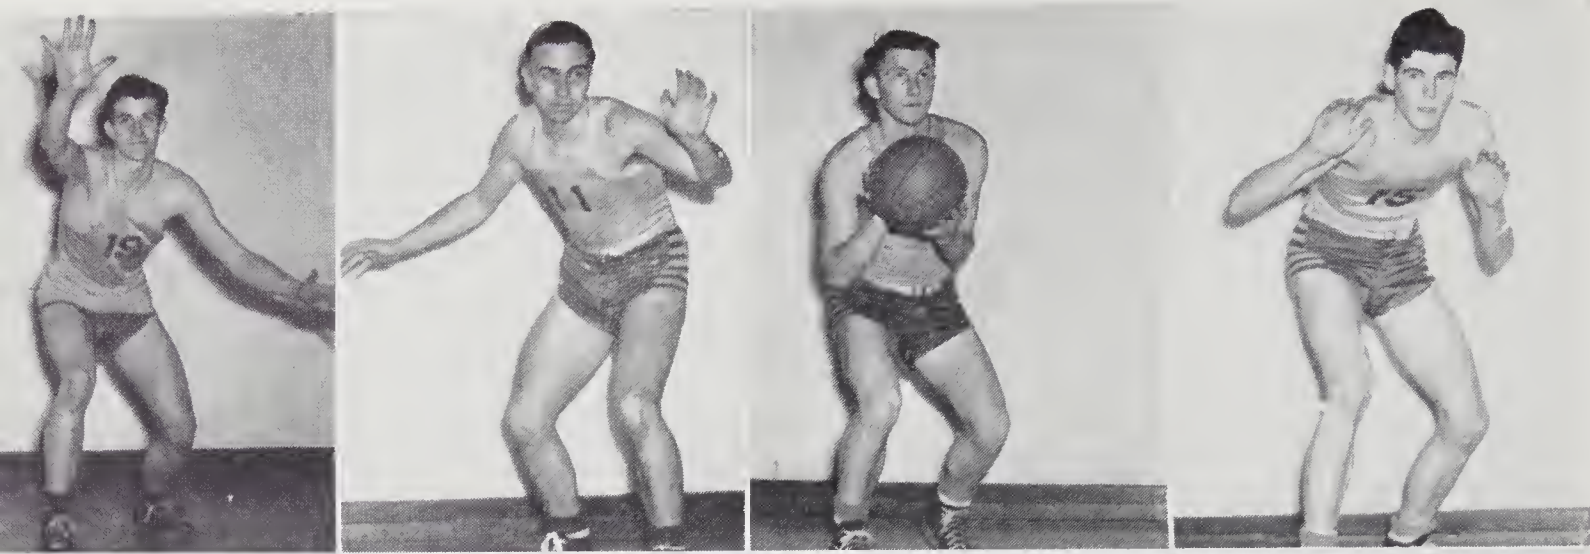

PAUL HAWKINS, sophomore, played right guard. He showed very well and should be helpful to the next year's team.

CURTIS COWELL, senior, played left guard on offense and line-backer on defense.

JACK LAYTON, sophomore, played right guard and was defensively strong. Jack has two more years at A. H. S.

First Row: Franciscovich, Korpela, Syvanen, Kittilson, Hansen.
Second Row: Morse, Fransen, Logue, Springer, Erickson.

DUANE HANSEN, senior, guard and forward, 5 feet 8 inches—"Dewey" was a deadeye on his shots and started many games.

JERRY SPRINGER, senior, forward, 6 feet—He was one of the best second stringers and scored often.

TED SIMONSEN, senior, guard, 5 feet 9 inches—Ted set up many plays and had a good one-handed shot.

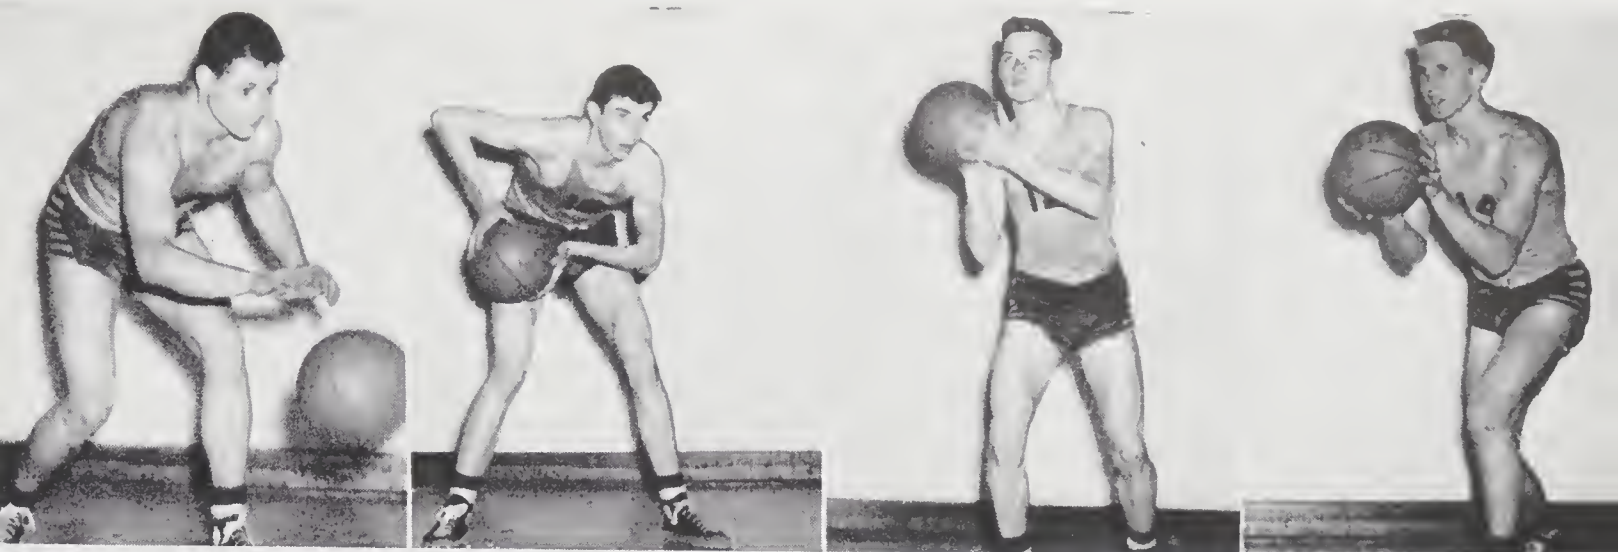

JOHN FRANSEN, junior, center, 6 feet 1½ inches—He started slowly, but developed fast and is a great prospect for next year.

BOB ERICKSON, junior, forward, 5 feet 11 inches—Bob is a steady player who can score equally well with either hand.

FRANK FRANCISCOVICH, junior, guard, 5 feet 9 inches—He could hit the baskets from way out and will be back next year.

BASKETBALL

First Row: Brooks, Angberg, Howe, Jumisko, Parks, Sample, Wong.
Second Row: Webb, Beyers, Palo, Edison, Arola, Cosovich, Dalgren, Coach Bob Bates.

BOB KITTILSON, co-captain, senior, guard, 5 feet 10 inches—Bab was the hard-driving sparkplug with a patent scoring punch.

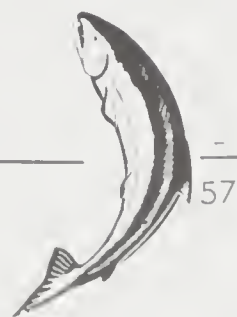

DOUGLAS LOGUE, co-captain, senior, center, 6 feet 4½ inches—Daug was the team's greatest faker and was a powerhouse under backboards.

BILL KORPELA, senior, forward, 5 feet 10 inches—He led the team in scoring, was a ballhawk, and great under the backboards.

PHIL SYVANEN, senior, guard, 5 feet 10 inches—Phil was one of the speediest and most rugged men. He had a great hook shot.

DICK MORSE, junior, forward, 6 feet—Although hampered by injuries, Dick played great ball, and will probably star next year.
